

SBP will participate in Forum on Prospects of Panama's Banking Center

For four consecutive years, the Superintendency of Banks of Panama (SBP) will be participating as a sponsor in the Forum and Debate program, organized by the Financial Capital Weekly Newspaper.

With the topic "Prospects of Panama's Banking Center", the forum will give the participants extensive information on the banking system's situation, and will make known some recommendations to maintain the Banking Center sound and strong, as well as the reality of the world financial environment and its impact on Panama.

Representing the SBP, Eng. Olegario Barrelier, the Superintendent of Banks will feature the current situation of Panama's Banking Center, present and future. With this speech, the institution will strengthen its prospects, so that the Panamanian marketplace enhances its image as a safe, reliable and ideal place for exercising the banking and financial businesses, aiming for regional positioning.

The event will take place on July 22 and will have the participation of different groups of businessmen, investors, diplomatic corps and general managers, who gather every year at this meeting.
